[From the German.]

Pain's furnace heat within me quivers, God's breath upon the flame doth blow, And all my heart in anguish shivers, And trembles at the flery glow; And yet I whisper, As God will! And in his hottest fire hold still.

He comes and lays my heart, all heated,
On the hard anvil, minded so
Into his own far shape to beat it
With his great hammer, blow on blow;
And yet I whisper, As Ged will!
And at his heaviest blows hold still.

He takes my softened heart and beats it, The spark dies off at every blow; He turns it o'er and o'er and heats it, And lets it cool and makes it glow; And yet I whisper, as God will! And in his mighty hand hold still.

Why should I murmur? for the sorrow,
Thus only longer lived would be;
Its end may come, and will, to-morrow,
When God has done his work in me;
So I say, tru-ting, As God will!
And, trusting to the end, hold still.

He kindles for my profit purely Affliction's glowing fiery brand.
And all his heaviest blows are surely
Inflicted by a master hand;
So I say, praying, As God will!
And hope in Him, and suffer still.

THE PRESIDENT'S LAST VETO.

HIS OBJECTIONS TO THE BILL TO TAKE AWAY THE BIGHT OF APPEAL TO THE SUPREME COURT IN

The President on Wednesday sent to the Senate the following veto message of the bill lately passed amending the Judiciary Act: To the Senate of the United States:

To the Senate of the United States:

I have considered, with such care as the pressure of other duties has permitted, a bill entitled "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act to amend the Judiciary act,' passed the twenty-fourth of September, seventeen hundred and eighty-nine." Not being able to approve all of its provisions, I herewith return it to the Senate, in which house it originated, with a brief statement of my objections.

The first section of the bill meets my approbation, as, for the purpose of protecting the rights of property from the erroneous decisions of inferior judicial tribunals, it provides means for obtaining uniformity, by appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States, in cases which have now become very numerous and of much public interest, and in which such remedy is not now allowed. The second section, however, takes away the right numerous and of much public interest, and in which such remedy is not now allowed. The second section, however, takes away the right of appeal to that court in cases which involve the lire and liberty of the citizen, and leaves them exposed to the judgment of numerous inferior tribunals. It is apparent that the two sections were conceived in a very different spirit, and I regret that my objection to one imposes upon me the necessity of withholding my sanction from the other.

I cannot give my assent to a measure which I cannot give my assect to a measure which I cannot give my assert to a inclusive when proposes to deprive any persom "restrained of his or her liberty, in violation of the constitution, or of any treaty or law of the United States," from the right of appeal to the highest judicial authority known to our government. To "secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity" is one of the declared objects of the Federal Constitution. To assure these, guarantees are provided in the same instrument, as well against "unreasonasame instrument, as well against "unreasonable searches and seizures," as against the suspension of the privileges of the writ of habeas corpus, unless when, in cases of "rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it." It was doubtless to afford the people the means of protecting and enforcing these inestimable privileges that the jurisdiction which this bill proposes to take any was conferred upon the privileges that the jurisdiction which this bill proposes to take away was conferred upon the Supreme Court of the nation. The act conferring that jurisdiction was approved on the 5th day of February, 1867, with a full knowledge of the motives that prompted its passage, and because it was believed to be necessary and right. Nothing has since occurred to disprove the wisdom and justness of the measure, and to modify it, as now proposed, would be to lessen the protection of the citizen from the exercise of arbitrary power, and to weaken the safeguards of life and liberty, which can never be made too secure from zen from the exercises of articlary power, and to weaken the safeguards of life and liberty, which can never be made too secure from illegal encroachment.

The bill not only prohibits the adjudication by the Supreme Court of cases in which appeals may hereafter be taken, but interdicts its jurisdiction on appeals which have already been made to that high judicial body. If, therefore, it should become a isw, it will, by its retro-active operation, wrest from the citizen a remedy which he enjoyed at the time of his appeal. It will thus operate most harshly upon those who believe that justice has been demed them in the inferior courts.

The legislation proposed in the second section, it seems to me, is not in harmony with the spirit and intention of the constitution. It cannot tail to affect most injuriously the just equipoise of our system of government; the spirit and intention of the constitution. It cannot fail to affect most injuriously the just equipoise of our system of government; for it establishes a precedent which, if followed, may eventually sweep away every check on arbitrary and unconstitutional legislation. Thus far during the existence of the government the Supreme Court of the United States has been viewed by the people as the true expounder of their constitution, and in the most violent party conflicts its judgment and decrees have always been sought and deferred to with confidence and respect. In public estimation it combines judicial wisdom and impartiality in a greater degree than any other authority known to the constitution; and any act which may be construed into or mistaken for an attempt to prevent or evade its decisions on a question which affects the liberty of the citizeus and agitates the country, cannot fail to be attended with unpropitious consequences. It will be justly held, by a large portion of the people, as an admission of the unconstitutionality of the act on which its judgment may be forbidden or forestalled, and may interfere with that willing acquescence in its provisions which is necessary for the harmonious and efficient execution of any law.

For these reasons, thus briefly and imperfectly stated and for others, of which want of time forbids the enumeration, I deem it my duty to withhold my assent from this bill, and to return it for the reconsideration of Congress.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25, 1368.

STARVATION OF THE ENGLISH POOR.—On the 5th of this month, an inquest was held, in the Holloway road, on the bodies of two boys, of five and seven years of age, both of whom had died of starvation. The parents of these children were quite respectable mechanes. About a year ago the fatter's health failed him and he lost his work as a whitesmith, which had brought him in comfortable wages. But the elder children earned enough to pay the rent and leave about three shillings a week over. They had been long living at a starving rate. But the whole house was kept by the mother in such good order that the parish surgeon said, "You might have eaten your food from the boards; everything was beautifully clean." The two boys were seized with convulsions, one after another, and after their death the surgeon made an examination of their bodies, and found that their intestines were completely empty, and that they died of convulsions, the effect of strivation. The poor laws do not keep the poor from starving.

of supplies.

With the exception of Bacon, there has been but little change in the leading articles since our last. Bacon has slightly advanced from last week's figures. As soon as the crops are pitched our merchants look for a revival of trade. To meet the coming demand, all our merchants are getting in, or have already in, ample stocks of goods. They have determined to offer the country merchant and planter such inducements as will secure their trade.

In our last weekly report, we left our market firm, with the closing figures at 23 cents for Middlings. Owing to the dullness prevailing in the Liverpool market and the stagnation of that of New York, our market became very dull and inactive the first four days of the week, and in order to effect the sales of the few lots soid sellers were compelled to submit to a reduction of half a cent.

On thursday (resterday), our market became more active under the favorable telegrams from Liverpool and New York, and holders begame stiffer in their demands, and received the half cent lost—the Middlings sold bringing 23c.

The very favorable daily telegraphic accounts from Liverpool and New York had the effect of stimulating our market to-day (Friday), and as much cotton changed hands as during the first portion of the week. We quote the following as the closing rates: Inferior 17c, Ordinary 19c, Good Ordinary 22c, Middlings 23/2c.

The following are the receipts, sales and shipments for the week: Receipts 556; sales 209; shipments for the week: Receipts 556; sales 209; shipments for the week: Receipts 556; sales 209; shipments for the week: Receipts 556; laws do not keep the poor from starving. THE GRASSHOPPER PLAGUE IN TEXAS.—The Galveston News of March 11th says: Our exchanges from the interior speak of the appearance. changes from the interior speak of the appearanee of grasshoppers in great numbers. Mr. Drake, from La Grange, says he never saw them so numerous in the Colorado valley. They are now very small, not half as large as a common fly, but seem to cover the whole face of the earth. In passing through timbered woods the noise they make upon the leaves resembles that of "harrowing snow" falling in small light clabules the size of bud shot. small, light globules the size of bird shot. A private letter from Bastrop says the whole country is covered with them in countless numbers. What is to be the result seems to numbers. What is to be the result seems to be a matter of mere conjecture. Some think their early appearance affords a hope that they will disappear also early, and pernaps before they may have done much damage to vegetation. It is indeed distressing that we are thus threatened with the destruction of what little our people are trying to make to subsist upon, after the loss of nearly all they had.

IMPEACHMENT IN LIBERIA.—Our correspondent in the black man's republic on the coast of Africa informs us that Chief Justice E. J. Roy, well known as the oldest shipping merchant and wealthiest man in Liberia, has been impeached for maladministration of his judicial duties, and Mr. C. L. Parsons appointed in his place. Judge Roy's crime, as we are informed, consisted in a decision of a case in olving a seizure of an English vessel for trading between the ports of the republic without a license. The law exacts confiscation, and the ludge affixed a pacuniary value to this penalty judge affixed a pecuniary value to this penalty authorizing the discharge of the vessel on the payment of a given sum.—N. The Republican party are determined to let nothing stand in the way of their policy. Finding that the Reconstruction bill has been lost in Alabama in consequence of an insufficient number of electors having voted for it, the Senate has passed a supplementary bill by which a bare majority will now be sufficient. This will have the effect of putting the government of the Southern States entirely into the hands of the negroes, and in that way all these States may be brought back into the Union, and the Republicans may, by the help of the negroes, once more obtain the majority in Congress of which they have been deprived by the recent elections in the North. This, of course, is nothing less than a revolution, a e-tablish quotations. There is but little doing in Lumber, and we quote $9.50 to New York, and $10 to Boston. Nothing offering for West India ports, as the present prices of lumber there will not justify shipments. South American and European Freights are dull, with little off-ring. We quote Timber to Liverpool direct at 36s, and at 37s 6d to London and on vessels to Cork for orders.

NEW ORLEANS, March 24.—Corron—The sales to-day were confined to 750 bales, part at previous rates and part at a reduction of 1/2c. With such a limited business, and factors generally adhering to their previous pretensions, we would not be justified in reducing our quotabons, which we repeat, however, for reference only, viz: Ordinary 21a22c, Good Ordinary 23a24/5c. It would have been impracticable, however, to purchise more than a few small lots at the reduction-light receipts and confidence in the future leading most factors to adhere firmly to their previous pretentions. The sales of the past three days sum up only 5155 bales, a considerable portion of which was taken tor France and the continent. The receipts proper since Friday evening (excluding the arrivals trom Mobile, Florada and Texas, which are embraced in their respective statements, amount to 9338 bales, against 953 during the corresponding period last week, showing a decrease of 105. The exports comprise 17,805 bales, embracing 6515 to Liverpool, 4021 to Havre, 3581 to Bremen, 949 to Barcelona, 951 to Genca, 1041 to Boston, and 747 to New York.

efficacy in producing large and early crops of Cotton, Corn, Wheat and Vegetables, while, at the same time, it enriches the soil. We subjoin the following: WALTERBORO', S. C., July 22, 1867. GENTLEMEN: In reply to your inquiry relative to the merits of WHANN'S SUPER-PHOS-PHATE, which, at your recommendation, I empoyed this season upon my Cotton lands, I would state that it has fully equalled, and indeed surpassed my expectations, and its application has been attended by the most favorable results. I have used it in connection with the most popular Phosphates, and unhesitatingly give the preference to WHANN'S, which I regard as being (next to Peruvian Guano) the most valuable Fertilizer for Cotton that has been MANURD! MANURD! MANURD!

TO THE PLANTERS OF SOUTH CAROLINA.

USE RHODES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE,

THE OLD AND LONG ESTABLISHED STANDARD FERTILIZER.

THIS MANURE, IN ITS PREPARATION, IS MADE EQUALLY ADAPTED FOR FORCING large crops of cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco, potatoes and other root crops.

The manufacturing depot is conducted by one of the most skilful chemists and manufacturers

It is endorsed, approved and recommended by all the most prominent chemists and agriculturists in the Southern States.

It can be relied on as uniform in quality-always reliable-productive of large crops-and unexcelled by any in the market in the high per centage of TRUE FERTILIZING PRINCIPLE.

Witness innumerable endorsements, among which we quote from Prof. JOSEPH JONES. Chemist to Cotton Planters' Convention, 1860, whose Report, page 7, says:

"It is but just that I should state to the convention that both the manufacturers and vende of this Fertilizer have thrown open everything to my examination, and have manifested a de termination to conduct all their operations in an open and strictly honest manner."

We have established a CENTRAL DEPOT at Charleston, and will be represented by
